Swift Wins International Oil Rig Deal with Tripleplay ASX: SW1

Highlights:

- Swift to provide content services to oil rigs in the Gulf of Mexico via Tripleplay
- International commercial maritime sector expansion continues
- Swift's premium international content services drives global partnership success

Leading telecommunications and content solutions provider Swift Networks Group Limited (ASX: SW1, "Swift" or "the Company") announces today that it has won a material contract with IPTV platform provider Tripleplay Services Ltd ("Tripleplay") to provide its international content services to one of the world's leading global satellite communication providers.

International maritime market expansion:

Tripleplay's existing Australian reseller relationship with Swift expands to include new market sectors and geographies.

Tripleplay's existing infrastructure will integrate with the Swift system to provide Swift's premium content services to approximately 1,000 rooms across 10 oil rigs in the Gulf of Mexico for an initial contract period of five years.

The Company notes the potential to significantly expand this agreement as the global satellite provider end-client provides technology and communication services to the maritime market on a global basis.

Execution of growth strategy:

Swift Chief Executive Officer, Xavier Kris, said:

"We are pleased to see Swift's partner and reseller strategy delivering results ahead of expectations as we continue to execute our international growth strategy through the deployment of Swift's premium content services, available to Swift clients and partners regardless of their geographic location."

Tripleplay's global reach:

Tripleplay provides IPTV and digital signage solutions to maritime, hospitals, hotels, military, enterprise, sports stadia and universities around the world.

Tripleplay CEO & Founder, Steve Rickless, said:

"Tripleplay is delighted to expand our relationship with Swift beyond hospitality deployments in the Australian market and into a global relationship for the benefit of Tripleplay clients internationally and we look forward to working with Swift on many more projects of this nature."
